

Transportation

If you're a motor carrier facing a claim, you can count on HSB's record of success. Not only do we often successfully defend such claims in court, but we also have achieved summary judgments due to our familiarity with technical rules and regulations. You are assured of the best possible outcome with HSB on your side.

Transportation law is concerned with issues surrounding motor carriers, shippers and anyone else involved in the process of transporting products (not people) from one place to another. Typical cases concern freight loss and damage, interstate commerce, truck accidents and overweight truck violations.

HSB's Transportation Law group specializes in finding and maintaining contact with defendant drivers who no longer work for our client, but are needed to testify. We have extensive experience in defending motor carriers and have a database of "expert witnesses" who frequently testify for plaintiffs.
